What is SEO?

SEO is the process of improving the ranking of a webpage in a search engine's results so your article appears at the top of the list when someone enters a search term that is relevant to your topic.

How important is SEO for my article?

Visits to Epilepsia Open typically come from:

- 34.40% Search Engines
- 32.90% Bookmarked, Typed or Entered Directly
- 10.40% Other Websites
- 8.30% Social Media
- 6.70% Google Scholar
- 5.10% Wiley.com
- 2.20% PubMed

How can I make my article appear best in search engines?

1. Keyword Tips
   - Make your keywords count: choose up to 5 keywords and phrases
   - Avoid overuse and repetition of the same words, including any used in the title
   - Try to use synonyms that searchers may look for
   - Test your keywords in your audience's search engine of choice

2. Title Tips
   - Make the title specific
   - Place the main concept at the beginning
   - Only use abbreviations and acronyms if it is common terminology
   - Avoid passive phrases such as “effect of,” “involvement of,” “evidence of”
   - Instead of “Evidence of X in Y process,” try “X impacts Y process through Z”

3. Abstract Tips
   - Capture key points in simple language — focus on a maximum of 3–4 keywords
   - Place essential findings first
   - Think of these questions: Why did you do the research? What is the key conclusion? How are your findings valuable for your field?
   - An abstract should tell a story with a beginning, a middle, and an end

4. Building Links Tips
   - Link to your paper from your institution's website
   - List your article as a reference to a related Wikipedia
   - Cite your work when it makes sense to cite your work—you do not want to self cite too much because in WOS you'll get flagged —unless it really is appropriate
   - Include links in your social media profiles

The 4 Easy Steps to SEO

Epilepsia Open

Get Read, Get Shared, Get Cited

---

IMPORTANT: Keywords push articles to the top of search results and are used by abstracting and indexing services as a mechanism to tag research content.

IMPORTANT: The title is the most interesting element and first piece of information someone sees before deciding to read your article.

IMPORTANT: Abstracts are almost always free access, which means they are the most widely-read part of your paper and may be accessed by readers who are non-experts.

IMPORTANT: The more reputable inbound links there are to your article, the more search engines will value and highlight your content.
4 Easy Ways to Increase the Impact of Your Published Paper

You have already optimized your article to be discoverable by search engines. But after it is written and published, there are still a few more steps to make your article even more discoverable and visible.

1. Share your article

   Wiley offers two different options
   - Wiley Content Sharing: Authors receive a unique link to share a read-only version with unlimited people.
   - Article Share: Invite up to ten colleagues to receive unlimited full-text access your paper.

   IMPORTANCE: Once published, ArticleShare automatically gets your published paper into the hands of influential people who can help make the biggest impact.

2. Kudos is a service that helps authors explain, share, and measure their article for maximum impact.

   Explain in simple language what your publication is about and why it is important. You can also add links to other materials that provide context.

   Share Create a unique, trackable link and share your enhanced article on social networks, websites, or email.

   Measure Access a publication dashboard to monitor the impact of your article performance by usage, citations and Altmetric score and see the direct impact of your shared link.

   KUDOS QUICK TIP
   The Kudos enhanced author dashboard shows your publications on one page with all the actions you have taken and results. This includes weekly full-text downloads!

3. Social Media is a great tool for promoting your published work.
